1	19-Aug-20	We welcomed the brilliant Alex Claridge from @the__wilderness to teach an online masterclass for our #hospitality #apprentices today! Alex created two dishes & gave us an extremely honest insight into his #career journey & surviving COVID-19 (with a swear word or two thrown in)! https://t.co/QO0p78Egd6	29-Nov-20	@IngrahamAngle One good thing about closing schools is that parents can teach God at home. At school the liberal agenda twists their young minds to hate God and love abortion. Did you ever think Covid was sent as a gift to save America for Jesus?
2	13-Aug-20	Finally, today, I received a medical accommodation to teach all my classes online this semester. My diabetes puts me at high risk of complications from COVID-19, and I am grateful for the opportunity to try to stay safe this semester.	18-Aug-20	@john_burris @ArkansasBlog Virtual learning is still learning. Teachers prepare lesson plans and they teach. Just without the threat of COVID. In the spring, the schools figured out a way to feed the kids too. I don't have kids in school & I happily pay property tax to live in an educated state.
3	22-Sep-20	Ann Pearl was a flight attendant who lost job due to COVID-19, but she found hope and joy when she became an online English tutor in the Philippines by joining 51Talk to teach Chinese kids English. How did she do it? Check out this video to find out. https://t.co/pjWPd1lrng https://t.co/l69fGsdD30	2-Jan-21	@NEUnion As a parent of a primary aged child I 100% support a full school closure or a volunteer scheme for those who can homeschool to do do hence relieving some pressure from teachers and others. We are in this messTogether 🌍🤔🌊 oh and when it's over please teach the truth about covid https://t.co/gYs51bRueS

4	8-May-20	This is Teacher Appreciation Week and we want to thank all the amazing, dedicated teachers in Berks County! Thank you for everything you do, including working so hard to develop new & creative ways to teach students online during this COVID-19 health crisis. You inspire us! https://t.co/kYMJHcNXDW	13-Oct-20	@kevc012 @_b_meyer @DelthiaRicks We have worked extensively on issues of mental health pre and post Covid and advocate for proper universal precautions for school openings, in North America up to and including armed forces Reserve medical units and volunteer groups to assist educators so they can teach
5	8-Jun-20	Ivanka, Trump, niece, talk, about cove floor, covid, 19_heather, bynog, ICU Nurse, learn from Heather, teach, Heather, off your speech, she loves to learn .online now practitioner nurse degree now, could have a fun day.	8-Apr-21	@JMcG_1 I'm a principal of an elementary school #MonsignorHetherington School and I am inspired every day by my staff that I work with. They are true #Superheroes and rise daily to champion students. Even with the weight of COVID, they teach with hope, faith and love.
6	5-Aug-20	Lovely to hear that Musical School + Yumu, our online learning platform, has been shortlisted for a Teach Primary Award – alongside some v distinguished companies too. Yumu's supported ¾m+ children learning & making music during COVID. Great to be playing our part #musiced https://t.co/NoTkjPrajJ	30-Nov-20	@RANDCorporation @jwwelburn I agree, but the theoretical gets crushed by reality when dealing with teacher unions. #nea #aft are ok sitting back cashing checks. States should withhold pay until they come back. Statistically school are safe but teachers only teach stats, don't abide by. #covid #vaccine

7	9-Jun-20	How can I continue to contribute to student learning during #COVID__19 ?I just finished a #Coursera certification on Learning to Teach Online.Wonderful resource & great to learn from educators around the globe.Let's keep the zest for learning alive! #Onlineclass #onlinelearning https://t.co/LvQAgyjVGP	30-Jun-20	@Billybeeswife @politico For context: wife is K-5 gym teacher; sister is registrar, and step-dad is professor and department head at university; aunt and uncle both elementary principals, dad, trade school instructor, grandmother HS French and librarian...these share SAME desire to teach but covid fear
8	29-Apr-20	https://t.co/dx9iZWaGjb During this time of Covid-19 and home learning, it's crucial we continue to teach the heart. Young people, unfortunately, can be targetted online. If we promote strong values and teach the heart it will build resilience, ambition and balance the mind!	17-May-20	@guardian The mental scars from loosing a loved one important to them because of covid FAR out weigh the scars of missing school. There are many solo avenues of learning right now these littles can benefit from. Learning is constant for them. You become the teacher. So TEACH. AND ENJOY.
9	30-Mar-20	Our students, faculty and staff have been amazingly adaptable and creative with the changes we've made in response to COVID-19. @UofUCAP professor Erin Carraher is using five forms of technology to teach her studio class online. Great innovation! https://t.co/SztaAyYgUa	19-Jan-21	Especially with COVID keeping kids out of schools what's the point? Instead send students home with good healthy food. Have a class that teaches how to prepare it. Maybe even teach kids how to grow it. That would be a way to encourage healthy habits and help with childhood hunger

10	1-Jul-20	@megpillow Its been pretty wild planning for fall term. Faculty decisions due to COVID so far for fall; 1 early retirement, 1 emeritus not coming back, 1 long time adjunct not coming back due to desire not to teach online, 1 FT slot open due to hiring freeze.	22-Jun-20	@Teach4Nigeria With effort of #TFN fellows going extra mile to teach pupils in under served communities, the effect of schools closure occasioned by COVID-19 would be cushioned. More promising young leaders should partake in this service to humanity to help the impacting pupils at home.
11	5-Apr-20	Talked w/old friend in St. Louis. 2nd grade teacher, mom of 3, freaking out - has to learn a program to online teach & required to list curriculum. I told her to calm down & just cheat. 2nd grade isn't important enough right now to worry about. Assignment: Survive COVID-19. https://t.co/RwzPZrCMwS	24-Jan-2021	@PJ26911300 @LBC @AndrewCastle63 @GavinWilliamson So let's talk about the welfare of the staff in the school. Teachers depending on year level are 2-7 times more likely to catch Covid which will spill over into general population. So instead of moaning why don't you teach your child after all you used to be a teacher, bone idle
12	28-Jun-20	I hope schools in the future will teach kids more about viruses and infections. We have probably all seen dangerously inaccurate information about COVID-19 posted online - gaining an understanding of viral spread and prevention at a young age may help future pandemic responses.	3-Jan-2021	@danwritestweets @Rob_Kimbell Interesting to see the Army has stepped up in these times We might have technology, but working parents expect teachers to do their job and actually teach when schools are meant to be open. Lots worrying about having to take leave, or lose pay/jobs, as well as covid to cover this
13	19-Mar20	Confessions of a working momma: I've hit mental capacity! Buried with "how to" homeschool, teach online, exercise, eat healthy, protect my elderly momma and my family from COVID-19. Giving myself a little grace tonight and asking you to do the same! ❤️ #flatteningthecurve	7-Jan-21	@tokyohq Kind of, I'm an academic mentor at a school but only for this year..it's a government funded scheme to help kids from low income areas who have fallen behind cos of Covid..I'm not looking to teach as a career though, I don't think so anyway

14	30-Jun-20	Award-winning faculty at Appalachian State share how they keep students feeling connected and supported as they teach online during the COVID-19 situation. https://t.co/LGIFirPwva https://t.co/oiZ0kOcfGh	27-Feb-21	@saltedpeaches With the covid pandemic, the educational facilities were not prepared to teach classes over the Internet and you are absolutely right, primary school parents are unaware of technology, this new generation will have a lot of deficiency in academic knowledge
15	3-Jul-20	The numbers of #Coronavirus cases are still rising. #COVID__19@home has an accessible online course to teach you how to manage symptoms. Enroll now, at no cost: https://t.co/1PL8Nm9aJx . If you or a loved one contracts #COVID19, be prepared with the knowledge to fight it. https://t.co/VcSKULarRa	6-May-2020	@basilman10 Sir- If the teaching staff does report to school to teach and thereafter the staff is tested COVID-19 positive, can the staff sue the employer and teacher union for failure to provide safe working environment? while president of the country preaches stay at home.
16	2-Dec-2020	LLLPlatform President Arja Krauchenberg (@arjakr) on #digitaleducation: "We discuss a very important topic today, the competence to learn and teach online and the effects of constant exposure to digital technology during the COVID-19 pandemic". #LLLWeek2020 #LLL2030 #DEAP https://t.co/86fWnQDXEY	26-Oct-20	@thomaskaine5 My Trump supporting sister believes my mother died of covid, untested, but she doesn't think Trump could have done anything. I'm a political scientist who teaches government and economics, she is an elementary school art teacher but doesn't "believe" my facts. Can't teach her.

17	19-Jul-20	And props to my university for doing a really great job accommodating our needs during COVID. I'm grateful to be scheduled to teach fully online this term, and that my department is reimbursing me for a decent webcam & a standing dry-erase board in support of my online teaching.	1-Oct-20	@richardcorcoran As a BCPS teacher please continue to hold our district accountable Sending teachers into school to sit and teach completely through elearning? When the survey shows very few kids agree to come back it's not fear of COVID It's why bother if the instruction is elearning at school
18	26-Feb-21	@ucu @DrJoGrady I am a teacher and I am prepared to go back to a Covid safe environment and teach my class because we cannot continue keeping young people at home; the damage is too great. Universities should step up too for their young people. They are paying £9K+ for online learning!	22-Mar-21	@DonaldJTrumpJr @AFTunion Teacher's unions are supporting teachers who are devoted to the children they teach. Let's treat teachers with respect - they deserve to get well paid, vaccinations, and to teach in schools that are well-prepared with all the protocols for Covid.
19	26-Jun-20	We encourage @ClemsonUniv faculty to consider adopting an open access textbook this fall. It will save students money, allow you to teach the content you want, and it will be easily accessible online in a hybrid, COVID-19 environment. @clemsonlibrary https://t.co/ecLPh3KZbj	15-Jan-21	@njdotcom Everyone hates teachers. My school district is back to full time, no cohorts, all students (if they choose). So teach those who choose to come. Provide content and meetings for the rest. If there are Covid cases in your class, don't worry, you're safe.. they're 6 ft away.

20	3-May-20	Challenges of teaching elementary students online go far beyond transposing ukulele lessons 2 digital platforms https://t.co/wpDaMhGI9I Worthy reading. Many pay the price of COVID: children/teachers included. Yes, there will be positives, including who can lead/teach in a crisis.	30-Jun-20	@wendz_Mmbengeni @MyselfTebza @makumbi_k2 @robzinterris @MbuyiseniNdlozi The real issue is Economy Vs Lives, just think of it With the rising covid numbers the Government decides to send Grade R learners to school. I know teachers need to teach to earn but do you think it's worth risking lives if innocent children?
21	25-Jan-21	Never has good online learning been so important. COVID-19 has changed the way we teach forever so we've updated our award-winning MOOC, Get Interactive: Practical Teaching with Technology. New course starts 1st Feb and starts over every 4 weeks https://t.co/5T9X3EUe7h #GetInMOOC	13-Apr-21	@NumbersMuncher Medical school dean on first day of class: "Half of what we teach you will be wrong, we just don't know which half." A tongue-in-cheek statement that Science often needs correcting. Nowhere has that been more obvious than the past year's worth of Covid statements. Still learning.
22	28-Apr-21	@Grumpyme4 @hmf_uk @Yahoo Because they are very clever and just because you don't understand doesn't make it not real. There's some brilliant resources "pre covid" (online education sites) that teach how to cultivate in vivo and in vitro. Then how to separate. Go read	7-Apr-21	@deputygrocott Morning #FFBWednesday Primary AHT, teach within Year 4. Looking at developing knowledge organisers, ensuring COVID funding is spent purposefully and developing my school improvement model called A.C.E which I'd love to share #collaborationiskey

23	28-Apr-20	Our online resources to learn & teach the Sustainable Development Goals from home launch today! 📚✍️ If you are learning or teaching from home during #COVID-19, we want to give you some tools to be engaged Global Citizens 🌍 Check out our Facebook page for our full post! https://t.co/22kyQqhmYI	4-May-20	@fordnation hope you're going to extend school year into summer. Teachers need to earn their pay. I have 3 kids and still working FT. I don't get paid $90K to teach them that's a teacher's job. Strike + Covid-19 = kids learned nothing this year. Summer school necessary
24	22-Feb-21	@utahbudd @afcbbeachboy #1 daughter is a Primary teacher. She's been ok but its taking 3x as long to teach now as she has the kids in class, the kids online and the kids working from data sheets. She's pretty sanguine but would like vax for teachers given the potential exposure and long-covid risks.	20-Oct-20	@The_Real_Editor i'm currently working on my bachelors in instrumental music education to hopefully teach high school band! i'm only a freshman and i am struggling because of covid restrictions and other personal things, but i'm still hopeful to get my degree!
25	7-Oct-20	Grants for Teachers Creating Online Lessons During COVID-19~"...to adapt or develop remote-friendly curriculum resources that use science, social studies, or geography to teach about pandemics, including COVID-19, or about social or environmental justice." https://t.co/Dhlm3eXihd	10-Jul-20	@realDonaldTrump I agree with you. The school need to reopen. But before we reopen, we need to teach our kids how to protect themselves from COVID. If parents, media, and politicians don't provide a good behavior to deal with COVID, you can't expect our kids will protect themselves.

26	9-Jul-20	You: "Why don't you reply to your DMs?" My DMs: "Be my mentor" "I need your help" "Send money please" "Bro teach me your ways" "Can I ask you a question?" "How to make money online or during COVID ?" "Top 17 tips on building a Business ?" 1000 DM's can't answer all of them 😞	29-Jun-20	@NicholasFerroni Door dash!! I usually teach summer school and it was cancelled b/c of covid. My best friend who's also a teacher just got a job in a grocery store. We both plan to continue working when school begins...
27	5-Feb-21	Is the Ontario gov't saying kids are not safe at home? Teachers worked hard to prepared & teach students each day during online learning. Many students have put forth an effort to learn during this time. They need this break at home to rejuvenate & be ready for further Covid. https://t.co/bxkmpZaOPj	10-Feb-21	@sailorrooscout If you need a pick me up, I teach middle school. We are doing a journalism unit, and I have many students who chose the Covid vaccines as their topic. They are working to research the proper information and share it with their classmates! And I'm making sure it's accurate 🍌
28	29-May-20	@MKAOUARAbderra1 @anis_amouri @messaoudimd @MohGalal88 @Gandurilam @TImanShaheen1 @ImenMarzouk @SM_ENGLISH @sdelafosse @nurfarhanaraml2 1. As a teacher: before covid-19, we were just English teachers, computing/IT was someone else's baby. Now, it's ours too. So, all of a sudden, we've run short of any excuses for not knowing how to be tech-savvy! For the next academic year, we've gotta learn how to teach online++	2-Jun-20	@riseleyEM203 Hey Riseley! I totally agree that in the past few weeks I have had to adjust my study habits in order to stay on top of my school work during COVID-19. Learning about how technology contributes in the digital age has also helped teach me different ways I can study and learn.

29	6-Aug-21	President Tate says LSU COVID vaccine mandate coming after full FDA approval but doesn't respond to faculty pleas for flexibility till then in deciding whether to teach 95% of the classes in person or online amid COVID surge. https://t.co/xjISnp7fMb via @theadvocatebr #lalege	1-Aug-20	@sun_cel That makes tons of sense. I'm hearing from a teacher friend who said there are rumblings from his former public school administration about signing waivers for Covid .in case of infection. He resigned and going overseas to teach in Kuwait
30	29-Dec-20	@kim_venturini @Teachers__Unite Great then don't teach a thing or expect a single keystroke or mouse click of work from any of your students. Facilitate peer communication. That would be doing your best for your students, whose families CHOSE in person learning over online in full knowledge of Covid risks.	25-Feb-21	@MatthewJshow Most of the teachers union members rather have a longer paid vacation at tax payers parents & students' expense, using covid-19 lockdown as a good excuse. In a sense they can't teach HATE AMERICA LOVE SOCIALISM anti-Americanism in the public schools system.
31	20-Nov-20	My (online learning) son's elementary teacher is taking a medical leave because she feels unsafe having to teach in person with a medical condition (hybrid model). And the first COVID case popped up in their school. I have a bad feeling things are about to fall apart here.	6-Aug-20	@4141peewee Guys it's an exciting time. I'm a public school teacher and I'm being pushed to teach in person as my states Covid #s go up! You can watch me lose my shit in real time! I'm laughing and crying!
32	24-Jun-20	Anonymous question "My R1 state university is now requiring people who have requested to teach online in Fall 2020 due to the ongoing COVID-19 pandemic to provide doctor notes. Is this egregious mistrust and/or common practice? Are others experiencing this?"	21-Jan-21	@JoanMcGahan @JuliaHB1 Covid is never self inflicted, its China's fault BUT our nation is incredibly unhealthy & that is adding to death rates & underlying illnesses. Healthier UK would save lives, proper PE in primary schools & PE becoming more essential like maths etc, teach healthy cooking in school

33	31-Aug-20	@jillcolvinjones teacher median age? 40? covid risk, in the US, is equivalent to... 1.4 years worth of risk of death from an accidental injury shall we bubble wrap you too? age 60? online teach & tutor your women's studies, free the youth, get the vaccine west point grad	10-Mar-21	@smile4wales Been in school full time since Sept. 2 of his 3 teachers have covid so the entire grade sent home for at least a week. I'm trying to work AND teach. I'm quite sick myself, and very tired. But oh how I love my life and my Lord. I am so blessed.
34	2-Jun-20	The hidden truth of Teach for America. The life of an essential worker amid the COVID-19 pandemic. Unique classes making light of the darkness. And the ongoing fight for the graduate community. This is PRIME, online today. https://t.co/DhMnXbN8Hf	8-Dec-20	@KamalaHarris I have a teacher friend who was forced to teach at school through Thanksgiving now, she, her partner and children have tested positive for Covid. Please pray. She's in a small town in Kansas 🙏
35	19-Jul-20	Rip my czn vice principal govt degree college Quetta is no more , another gem became victim of Covid 19 , Failed HEC policies forced professor Nadir shah Mashwani to teach lecturers regarding online classes ,@jam_kamal @dpr_gob @usmankhankakarp @LiaquatShahwani @nimra_pirkani	17-Oct-20	@insightful_19 @DrBradJohnson Schools are not safe. If teachers are forced to teach in classrooms then they should definitely be paid hazard pay. Everyone spreads COVID including children. Distance learning is not the best, but it's the safest until a vaccine.
36	24-Apr-20	The changes Covid-19 have brought on have been TOUGH, & I'd be lying if I said I wasn't struggling. In addition to the challenge of not seeing loved ones, I was not prepared to teach my students online. Although I'm young, I don't feel confident with technology, social media,	21-Jun-20	@XxPvkS1M16UtGh9 @ADARSH1165 @XHNews My friend same here resumed school work university. now slowly Start & govt spend more money for covid and others sectors.This our bad situation fighting with covid inside .. disadvantage take Chinese enter our land. Now we teach to lesson China.

37	19-Mar-21	I teach #GameDev (programming) at USW. Online delivery - post-Covid lockdown - has been tough, but remarkably good for the students, as remote, freelance working is the way the Creative Industry is going. It's an ill wind... https://t.co/jsSUo8IL73	14-Aug-20	Lower in-school class numbers are necessary not only to reduce the risk of the spread of COVID-19, but also to enable teachers to teach & students to learn more effectively, given realities of the new normal classroom this school year. Good luck. 4/4
38	15-Jul-20	My university is being fairly cool about Covid-19 (online if instructor choice, masks required on campus, half-capacity rooms for the idiot professors who want to teach in-person, all lectures on campus live streamed, no penalty for students who stay home)... But...	14-Mar-21	@ChristinaGrada1 Fact don't matter to teach unions. "We think our vaccine robustly active against all strains," Pfizer Chief Scientific Officer Mikael Dolsten in interview 2/25/21. Covid cases in US steadily declining for while even w/ numerous variants. @NYGovCuomo-force our schools fully open!
39	2-May-20	Who would have thought that a system that exploits unpaid labor would be the first to be dropped as scientists scramble to: 1) teach their kids 2) develop online classes 3) pick up slack from their 'essential' spouses 4)adjust to post COVID life. This model must change. https://t.co/tekOgEZCYT	14-Jul-20	@stacymcanulty Group 1 or 2. I teach in a low income school that the town cut the budget by $1.6 million this year right before COVID hit. Very little money for anything this year. I also teach the kids that haven't found their right book yet so graphic novels are wonderful.
40	29-Apr-20	As children and teens stay safe at home and isolate from the Covid-19 pandemic, it is likely that we will see an increase in cyberbullying. So, how can parents protect their kids online and teach them how to stay safe. Joe is joined on the line by Pat Forde and Diarmuid Hudner https://t.co/H0HXkJauGv	30-Jan-21	White Pundit: WE NEED TO REOPEN SCHOOLS FOR THE BLACK CHILDREN! Schools reopen and immediately Covid clusters happen White Pundit: What happened? Teachers: I teach during the week but have to work at an Amazon fulfillment center at night and clean houses on the weekends.

41	10-Apr-20	What did COVID-19 teach us? There is no excuse for any government to not provide 1) online and distance learning, 2) remote work accessibility, 3) parallel healthcare for special interest groups, and 4) comprehensive social supports, for EVERYONE. No. Excuses. #You_Can_Do...	24-Aug-20	@chrisseyteigen You are SO kind! I teach 5th grade in a low income/city school. This year I have 25 kids that I'm trying to socially distance while making our learning enjoyable. Because of COVID, I have spent more $$ bc our families cannot afford the normal supply lists. https://t.co/JDILNqD4Bb
42	7-Aug-20	@JaegarKira @ranjanpn @ArvindKejriwal @msisodia @CSrankings Not just covid, when u are going to teach online you save much of the expenses like electricity (our college is fully AC so this accounts a lot of money) but instead of decrease they increase by straightaway 25k	23-Dec-20	@johndumelo1 I teach in a private school, but in the wake of COVID-19 the private sector has been greatly affected. In view of this, I humbly request for financial assistance to enable me spend some time with my mum and siblings. My MTN MOMO number is 0546263769. God bless you. #dumeloxmas
43	13-Aug-2020	Finally, today, I received a medical accommodation to teach all my classes online this semester. My diabetes puts me at high risk of complications from COVID-19, and I am grateful for the opportunity to try to stay safe this semester
